NEW DECORATIVE SECURITY AND ACCENT LIGHTING EXPANDS ACCULITE™ COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL PRODUCT LINE
Polaris™ Provides Outdoor Lighting With Safety and Style

DES PLAINES, Ill. (April 23, 2007) — Juno Lighting Group®, a leading North American lighting manufacturer, introduces Polaris™, a new series of decorative security and accent lighting. Under the AccuLite™ brand, these architectural styled wall-mounted outdoor fixtures highlight building facades while providing safe illumination for walkways and other outdoor areas.

Polaris comes in three different housing shapes to complement any architectural design: quarter sphere, half round and trapezoid models with both wide beam and forward throw optics. For facade and accent lighting, the half-round model offers an “up/down” illumination providing 12.5 percent up-light and 87.5 percent downlight.

Dark Sky™ Approved, the full cut-off optics of Polaris downlighting models are certified by the International Dark Sky Association.

All models feature an easy-to-install bracket mount design. All that needs to be done is mount the bracket to the junction box, adjust using the built-in level and then hang the luminaire and secure two heavy-duty set screws. Polaris is ideal for schools, parks and other locations that may experience vandalism. Six clips secure the gasketed glass lens. With no silicone glue to remove, lens replacement is quick and easy. In addition, a long lasting, polyester power coat finish maintains its attractive appearance under years of exposure to harsh climates.

The standard finishes are bronze, white and black. Custom designer colors are also available to complement specific building facades.
